INTRODUCTION

What are the data sources for this report? The 2012-2013 Data Tables include information that MSU obtained from several sources about your program as a whole and each site. MSU gives you data from:

- EZReports (student characteristics, attendance, activities, staff, vendors/partners)
- School records that you submitted (grades, tests)
- Parent and student surveys from the state evaluation (change in youth developmental assets, outcomes, program satisfaction)
- Teacher survey data collected as part of state and federal requirements (changes in classroom behavior)
- Staff survey data (beliefs about quality, perceptions of the working climate)
- YPQA (staff activity interaction)

Grantees may also collect information from:

- Other data your program collected specifically with local questions in mind, such as local surveys, interviews, or focus groups with students, parents, staff, school administrators, community members, partners, or any other data that would assist you in developing your program's success and sustainability.
- Meetings with key staff and administrators to review the program data, identify areas of strength and needs for improvement, and develop program adaptations to address problems identified.

Comparisons to the state. Most tables in this report compare data from this site to data across the state. Each of these tables indicates whether the data for your site is "Very high", "High", "Average", "Low", or "Very low" compared to the data for the state. To determine these cutoffs, we used standard deviations. A standard deviation (SD) is a measure of how far a score is from the average score. Scores for most sites will fall between 1 SD above and 1 SD below the average score; a score more than 1 SD from the average score is quite different from how most of the other sites are scoring.

- "High" means that this site scored higher than two-thirds (67%) of the sites across the state
- "Very high" means that this site scored higher than 84% of sites across the state
- "Low" means that this site scored lower than two-thirds (67%) of sites across the state
- "Very low" means that this site scored lower than 84% of sites across the state

You might see a score being considered as "Average" even though the number is quite different from the state average. That means, in practice, there is a wide range of scores in the state and therefore it might not be a meaningful difference. On the other hand, you might see your scores being very close to the state average but are noted as "Very low" or "Very high." In that case most of the sites would have similar scores close to the state average, and therefore slight differences in scoring might mean very different things. " You will need to use your best judgment to decide how comparisons to the state data might be meaningful to you.

Moreover, to ensure the data represent your program, we set the reporting threshold as follows:

- Parent, student and teacher surveys: at least 15 respondents for each examined question
- Staff survey: at least 3 respondents for each examined question

Data that do not meet the threshold will be identified as "Insufficient data" and excluded from the report. In addition, the note: "Data not requested" indicates that your survey data was not requested for one of the following reasons: (1) you did not serve the age group of youth that was eligible for surveys, or (2) you did not serve enough youth at the survey administration period to meet the reporting threshold.

The table below shows the percent of students enrolled and the percent of students who attended regularly who were low achieving in reading and math. It also gives the percent of low-achieving students who attended this site regularly for each year.
